

Elks Lodge Buys Fine Site For a Skyscraper Home

Adjacent to the Empire Building
Is Purchased at Lodge Meeting.

COSTLY AND BEAUTIFUL HOME

Is To Be Built Next Summer At a
Cost of Thirty Thousand Dollars Or More.

Clarksburg Lodge No. 482, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will in the near future have its own elegant home, surpassed by none in the state. The lodge has long felt the need of such a home and from time to time the question has been up for consideration, but not until recently did it resolve itself into definite shape, which dates from the appointment of a committee consisting of a number of members of the lodge, to report to the lodge on the matter of the selection of a site.

The committee at Tuesday night's session made its report after having viewed a few available sites, and the lodge at once took action, which resulted in the purchase of a site for the building. The deal was closed Tuesday night.

The site acquired is adjacent to the Empire building, fronting on Fourth street. Fifty-four feet of frontage, extending the entire depth of the Empire building was purchased from Messrs. Denham and Highland. The location is central, the lot spacious, and the community desirable. Features that commended the lot to the lodge and which will prove most satisfactory for all time. Wisdom was assuredly shown in the selection.

The lodge will proceed to erect a five story brick and steel building fireproof in every particular. The basement and first and second floors will be used for business purposes and the other three stories for lodge and club rooms for the Elks. While the plans have not yet been drawn, yet the sentiment of the membership of the lodge is that the building shall be one of the handsomest in the state and it is estimated the cost of it will be not less than $30,000 and may reach $50,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Bishop Charles C. McCabe died at 5:20 o'clock this morning. Mrs. McCabe and the Bishop's niece were at his bedside when he passed away.

LINDSAY HELD FOR COURT

Under Bond of $500 Which He Furnishes, For the Death of His Brother.

Claude Lindsey was held to await the action of the next grand jury in the death of his brother, Vance Lindsey, who died of death from a knife stab inflicted by Claude in an altercation between the two Monday morning, at the conclusion of his hearing before Magistrate T. W. Martin at Lumberport Wednesday afternoon. His bond was fixed at $500 and he furnished the required security and was released. Two brothers, James W. and A. Lindsey, signed the bond.

Four witnesses were examined for the defense and four for the state. The evidence appeared to show that Claude did not wilfully and feloniously murder his brother, but that the knife stab was more the result of an accident. Dr. Shirley, Budd Ashcraft, Tom Lindsey, Lester Lindsey, Seal Siers and three other witnesses were examined. The hearing began at 9 o'clock and continued until 2 o'clock in the afternoon and was attended by a large crowd of interested spectators.

TELLS OF MEXICAN CUSTOMS

And Gives Glowing Account of the Thrilling Experiences of An American Party.

[By A. P. Gladden.]
TOHEOCHIC, Mexico, Dec. 19.—My last letter was from Ocampo, Chihuahua, Mexico. Our "trail train," consisting of a "saddled" burro for each member of our party, and seven "packed saddled" burros to carry our supplies, was lined up Dec. 1 at 1:30 o'clock p. m. ready to mount and forward march. We were photographed after mounting out long-eared little "horses." All of our mules were soon named Pocahontas, Snow Drop, Roosevelt, etc. I gave my mule the name of "Damn-You-Anna." While good I would use the latter, but if unruly the full name. After the march had begun, while yet in Ocampo, my burro became displeased with her burden and began "pitching" (bucking). I soon was turning a somersault in the air, falling on a cobble street. I was left pretty badly bruised up, in both hands and the left knee, from which I have suffered much on the entire trail, and this is my first attempt to write, owing to the dislocation of a finger joint on the right hand. It is useless to say what part of the above name for the mule I have since used. Had I not thought her already christened, I would have enlarged on her name. But with all her faults I almost love her now for safe piloting over the "Billy Goat pathways" that we have traveled. When we started out on this trail expedition, the narrow pathway for miles looked scarcely wide enough for the foot of the mule, with gulches below almost perpendicular apparently about 1,000 feet deep. We now remain in saddle going to our rugged points, that in the start (Continued on page 4.)

TICKERS' WAGES ARE RAISED

New Schedule and Wage Increase Will Become Effective First of Coming Year.

Officials of the Order of Railway Telegraphers have returned from Baltimore, where they have been in conference with General Manager Thomas Fitzgerald and other officials for several days.

A new schedule was presented by a committee of telegraphers, representing practically every local division of the organization on the B. & O. system. The schedule calls for better working conditions and a substantial increase in salaries.

The officials claimed that they were paying ordinary railroad wages and, while it was not generally known, a strike was for a time threatened. The operators would make no concessions and their demands were finally granted. A large force of men in this district are affected.

The new schedule, including the wage increase, will take effect January 1. The exact amount of the increase was not made public, but it is understood that it is in conformity with the advance granted men in other departments of the service.

CHRISTMAS GREENERY

Holly and mistletoe have been purchased in goodly quantities and some elaborate decorations are already being arranged in private residences and the public places, the hotels especially bringing into use the decorations particularly in the dining rooms.

Everybody who takes an interest in high class theatrical matters will be pleased to know that Ellen Terry is coming to the United States about holiday time to appear on the American stage.
